Satsumas

FEATURED ITEM

Stem & Leaf Satsumas are entering peak season with bright flavor, easy-peel skins, and consistently strong quality. These seedless mandarins offer a clean, sweet profile and a beautiful presentation that adds instant freshness and color to winter menus.

Chefs are using them in chicory salads, seafood dishes, house-made vinaigrettes, citrus spritzers, and grab-and-go breakfast items. They also work well in parfaits and light desserts. With reliable supply and excellent eating quality right now, it's a great time to bring seasonal citrus onto your menu

MARKET ALERT

Recent heavy rainfall across all current growing regions—including California, Yuma, Oxnard, and Salinas—creating industry-wide supply challenges. Growers are reporting delayed harvests, lighter weights, and inconsistent quality across several commodities, with the most significant impact on leafy items, baby salads, Brussels sprouts, and celery. Strawberry supplies are also expected to be extremely limited following this week's storms.
